THE MISSIONARY SERMON.

The Missionary Sermon was preached by Rev. Lemuel Porter, D.D., of Pittsfield, Mass., in the evening of the Lord's day, May 16, in the same church edifice where the business meetings had been held, from Psalms 126 : 6—"He that goeth forth and weepeth, bearing precious seed, shall doubtless come again with rejoicing, bringing his sheaves with him." It was a very appropriate discourse, presenting "the encouragements to self-denying labor in the cause of Home Missions." Its design and tendency were to awaken more earnest and efficient coöperation on the part of ministers and churches in the work of Home Missions.

At the close of the sermon, a contribution was taken to aid the Society in its operations.

The beneficial influence of this anniversary will long be felt by those who were present to enjoy it. Their interest in the cause of Home Missions was deepened, and their hope for the improved religious condition of thousands scattered abroad at far distant points of the great West, was much encouraged. Let the earnest prayer of every friend of the Society be—"Establish thou the work of our hands upon us ; yea, the work of our hands establish thou it."

ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE EXECUTIVE BOARD OF THE AMERICAN BAPTIST HOME
MISSION SOCIETY, MAY 14 AND 15, 1858.

THE Constitution of the American Baptist Home Mission Society, requires of the Executive Board, at each annual meeting, a full Report of their proceedings for the previous year.

In performing that duty at this time, we would gratefully acknowledge the Divine favor by which we have been happily and prosperously carried through a period of financial trouble that brought ruin to thousands of individuals, and dismay to the nations of the earth; and by which spiritual blessings have been made to follow, encouraging us, and our missionaries, and the churches to whom they minister in word and doctrine. It has been a year of signal displays of Almighty power and grace. God has "put down the mighty from their seats, and exalted them of low degree." He has made bare His arm for man's salvation. He has accomplished much of his purpose of mercy to our fallen world, and has graciously allowed this Society to be one of the honored instrumentalities of its accomplishment. Through it, many souls have been redeemed from everlasting death; churches of Jesus Christ have been gathered; the ordinances of the gospel have been administered; and foundations have been laid for the successful advance of christianity and civilization in the extreme frontier territories of our country. By these, many of our countrymen and friends, while wandering far away toward the setting sun, have become better qualified to act as pioneer architects of social character and customs in states and cities of the distant West, and to impart healthful and vigorous action to the feeble churches into whose embrace they are received. Thus, the wilderness and the solitary place have been made glad ; and the desert has rejoiced and blossomed as the rose. It has been said to them of a fearful heart, be strong, fear not ; weak hands have been strengthened, and feeble knees have been confirmed.

DEATHS.

It is our duty and privilege to make mention of those who have ceased to meet with us on earth, and have gone to share the blessedness of the redeemed in heaven.

Our list of the deceased for the year, is the longest we have ever had occasion to write ; it contains sixty-one names. Seven of them were directors, who, with sixteen members, were ministers of the gospel ; several of whom were among the earliest, most constant, and efficient friends of the Society. Two of them had once been its missionaries. Of seven, who were minister's wives, two had known the trials of missionary life, and another had, for years, endured loneliness and privations, caused by her husband's frequent absence as an agent. Others, when living, sustained the cause by their liberal contributions ; and some of them, as our List of Legacies shows, still more liberally and affectionately remembered it in the hour of death. The "gathering in," by the king of terrors, of so large a number of our former associates, in a single year, shows how fast we are all passing away. Let us, while we may, so labor in spreading the glorious gospel of the blessed God among men, that, when our turn comes, we may disappear, as they did, like the summer cloud, whose gentle rain had fallen to refresh the parched earth beneath its onward course.

DIRECTORS AND MEMBERS FOR LIFE.

During the past year, three hundred and seven persons have been constituted members, and thirty-four Directors for life. The deaths already mentioned, together with twenty-two others in former years, but only recently reported to us, make the present number of the first named class four thousand eight hundred and seventy-eight; that of the others, six hundred and sixteen; and of both classes, five thousand four hundred and ninety-four.

CHANGES IN THE EXECUTIVE BOARD.

Rev. A. K. Nott, who was elected at the last anniversary as a Manager, declined the position, and it has been occupied by Z. Ring, Esq., by the election of the Board.

D. C. Whitman, Esq., who was elected Treasurer at the last anniversary, being required by business pursuits to be absent in Europe, resigned the office at the close of the missionary year; and Ebenezer Cauldwell, Esq., was elected to fill the vacancy. The duties of the office he has since performed.

Rev. E. L. Magoon, D.D., having removed to a distance from the city of New York, resigned his seat in the Board; and the vacancy was filled by the election of Rev. J. S. Holme.

For the same reason, Rev. J. L. Hodge, D.D., resigned also; but as it was near the anniversary of the Society, the election of his successor was not thought necessary.

ADDITIONAL SECRETARY.

The Rev. Dr. Colver, who was elected at the last anniversary as a Secretary of Correspondence, declined the appointment, and, owing to the prostration of business throughout the country, and other causes beyond control, the vacancy has not been filled by the Executive Board. To them, indeed, it is doubtful whether it should at present be filled.

CHURCH EDIFICE FUND.

The occurrence of universal financial embarrassment has postponed to a future period the collections for our Church Edifice Fund, for which, however, an attempt was commenced.

FINANCIAL AFFAIRS.

The financial condition of the Society on the 31st of March, was as follows :—

Balance from last year's account,.....	$8,967 09
Receipts from all sources,.....	43,126 24
Total resources for the year ending March 31, 1858,.....	$52,093 33
Amount disbursed in the same period,.....	47,634 31
Balance in the Treasury, March 31,.....	$4,459 02
Amount of liabilities April 1, 1858, of which $3,473 17 is liable to immediate demand,.....	31,532 89
Balance against the Society,.....	$27,073 87

MARCH RECEIPTS.

As has been the case for some years past, a large proportion of the amount contributed to the Society was received in the month of March. The principal cause of this may be found in the fact that many churches which have adopted systematic plans of benevolence, have among other measures, adjusted the time for collections for the Society, so as to terminate in that month. But the receipt of so large a sum as is often obtained at that time, which is the closing month of our missionary year, or rather the delay of its payment until then, is a cause of no small embarrassment.

WHEREIN THEY ARE EMBARRASSING.

A casual reading of the Treasurer's account, showing a large balance on hand at the close of the year, has often caused a misapprehension that the treasury was rich, and unfavorably affected its replenishment. A closer examination might have shown that, large as the balance created at so late a day may have been, the amount of liabilities subject to immediate demand was as large or larger. Thus, nearly a fourth part of our receipts the past year reached the treasury in March, and, consequently, a considerable balance remained to be credited in the new account of April 1st. On the other hand, there is a heavy account of liabilities, the portion of which subject to immediate demand is but little less than that balance.

The Board have learned by serious experience that their true policy is to regulate their appropriations by the amount of funds actually in the treasury, and in that policy they enjoy the general concurrence of the Society. Such a policy forbids the appropriation of funds based on mere estimates of receipts for any given period in advance.

But ministers residing in eastern states, who are willing to remove to missionary stations in the west, find it indispensable to make their arrangements for removal some months previous to their departure. The larger number prefer to proceed in the spring, and, therefore, must make their arrangements for removal in the winter. The expense of emigration to frontier states and territories, and the support of missionary families for a year or two after, are always considerable, and sometimes very heavy; and as ministers are rarely able to encounter the expense of either without aid from the missionary treasury, it is indispensable that it be sufficiently supplied to justify the Board in encouraging their expectation of that aid, but as each month in the year, except March, usually produces claims on account of appropriations already made, sufficient to absorb the ordinary receipts, it follows that new applications for aid during a few previous months must, to a considerable extent, be deferred ; and if that supply is withheld until March, which is near the time when the missionaries should commence their journey, they must be subjected to months of suspense or abandon the plan of removal. The latter is frequently chosen from necessity. Such was the case the past year. Because of an insufficient amount of funds during the winter months, and the great uncertainty of much increase in the spring, only a few applicants could be encouraged. It will be seen, therefore, that the winter months, more than any others, are those in which the Board need to know what amount of appropriations they can safely make, or what number of missionaries they can appoint, and to what stations they can be sent.

A CHANGE SUGGESTED.

They would, therefore, respectfully suggest, that those churches which have adopted the plan of forwarding their contributions in March, would increase the efficiency of their co-operation by closing their respective Home Mission years in December, and transmitting the amount of their annual contributions immediately thereafter. Such an arrangement would prove very advantageous to the new western churches and villages, as it would secure a larger number of good ministers to enter them in the name of the Lord.

CONDITIONAL DONATIONS.

Among other modes adopted by our friends for supplying the treasury, some have made donations or legacies in advance, from time to time, with the condition that they should be entitled to interest annually, during their natural lives. The amount of those donations has reached but a few thousand dollars, but as they create a claim for interest until the decease of the donors, it has been deemed prudent to invest the whole on good security, and thus create a suitable resource for the payment of the interest, without using funds annually contributed. The amount thus invested, will be subject to variation by the decease of each donor ; by which event the amount of their respective donations will be immediately merged in the funds of the society for general purposes.

An additional reason for making the investment, existed in the fact that an unusual proportion of receipts the past year was in the form of legacies. The amount of such receipts differs very much from year to year, and it is seldom that there are any means of estimating it correctly in advance, consequently, no reliance can be placed on legacies as available funds until they are actually deposited in the treasury. To have appropriated the whole amount, therefore, for the support of missionaries the past year, would have exposed the Board to probable embarrassment in this upon which we have now entered, unless they had perfectly good reasons to expect an equal amount of legacies within the year, or that the ordinary contributions would considerably exceed those of the year just closed. A part only of the amount, therefore, has been expended, and the balance was employed for the investment mentioned.

MISSIONARY OPERATIONS.

In laboring to extend missionary operations, the older western fields have not been overlooked, but the new and more distant states and territories have required and received a larger share of our attention. We have much to encourage the belief that the arrangement has been advantageous to the cause of Christ.

Nearly every church aided by the Society, has suffered in temporal interests, and some of them very seriously, by the financial troubles of the country ; but, toward the close of the year, a considerable number of them were blest with revivals of religion, and the year terminated while they were participating largely in outpourings of the Holy Spirit, the fruits of which we are yet to learn. The reports of missionaries show that churches have been strengthened in membership and spiritual gifts, which promise advantage in future aggressions upon the powers of darkness. The revival influence has been, and continues to be, very extensive. It has been largely diffused among the churches of the great western valley, and extended to California; and missionary labor has been unusually efficacious even in New Mexico, the darkest portion of our field.

DISTRIBUTION OF MISSIONARIES.

The distribution of missionaries and some of the results of their labors in the states and territories are as follows:—

CANADA.

Four missionaries labored in Canada, but about the middle of the year one of them removed to the city of Quebec, where he receives his support independently of the Society. Thirteen persons, formerly Roman Catholics, were converted and baptized, and a church edifice was completed in this field.

NEW YORK.

One missionary was sustained in the city of New York by funds designated for that purpose by the donors. He is pastor of a French and German church, and preaches in both of those languages. He baptized seventy-two persons, nearly all of whom were previously Roman Catholics or Lutherans. The church own a small house of worship, but, on account of their increased membership, and the earnestness with which their countrymen crowd it for purposes of divine worship, they need a larger one immediately.

PENNSYLVANIA.

In Pennsylvania there was but one missionary. His principal effort was to finish a house of worship, and perfect the organization of a church. In this he succeeded well.

DELAWARE.

A German missionary was sustained to labor among his countrymen in Delaware. Twelve of them were baptized by him. The church have a good place of worship, and exert a good influence over the German population of the place.

OHIO.

We had only three missionaries in Ohio. Two of their churches enjoyed revivals, and all of them succeeded in paying portions of debt upon their houses of worship. Twenty-five persons were added to them by baptism.

MICHIGAN.

In Michigan there were five missionaries, who baptized thirty-nine persons. One of their churches has partly completed a house of worship. An additional minister is now under appointment for a frontier portion of this state.

INDIANA.

Twelve missionaries labored in Indiana. Four of their churches enjoyed revivals, and one hundred and fifty-five persons were added to their membership by baptism. Two churches became able to dispense with missionary aid, one completed a house of worship, and four others are preparing places for that purpose.

ILLINOIS.

In Illinois we had but six missionaries, the General Association of that great and prosperous state having undertaken to supply their destitute points. The revival influence reached four of the churches supplied by us, and forty-six persons were baptized. One church edifice was finished ; three churches were building, or paying off debts incurred by building ; and one become independent of missionary aid.

WISCONSIN.

The number of missionaries in Wisconsin was fourteen. Revivals were reported in three churches, and sixty baptisms in all ; two churches became able to support the gospel without missionary aid ; two finished houses of worship, and two were progressing in building ; two more missionaries will immediately occupy stations in this state, but there are four other prominent towns and cities, and several rural districts, to which able men should be sent without delay.

IOWA.

In Iowa were seventeen missionaries in commission. Revivals were reported from four places, and eighty baptisms from all ; one church dispenses with further missionary aid ; five church edifices have been finished, and two others have been commenced. It is believed that, west of the Des Moines River, which comprises nearly half of the vast area of this state, and in which are several important villages, there is not a Baptist minister devoted entirely to the preaching of the gospel.

MINNESOTA.

Fifteen missionaries labored in Minnesota. Two of them reported revivals at several stations, or out-stations, and forty-nine baptisms. Seventeen of the candidates were Swedes, and had been Lutherans in their native land ; four church edifices were commenced, and preliminary measures taken for the commencement of others ; two other missionaries have been appointed for this state, and will soon be in their fields. In three of the principal cities of Minnesota no Baptist minister labors regularly, and several considerable towns or villages are entirely without supplies. In two of these cities are churches, suffering from their lack of able, active, and devoted pastors.

NEBRASKA.

There were three missionaries in the territory of Nebraska. Two persons were baptized; another missionary is now proceeding to that field, and he should be followed, as soon as practicable, by at least four more.

KANSAS.

The disturbed state of political affairs in Kansas has been unfavorable to religious interests. Only four missionaries were sustained there, who appear to have been laying good foundations for success when more peaceful times are enjoyed. One of them has left the field, but another is under appointment, who will commence his labors within a few days, and, under more improved circumstances, some six more well qualified ministers would find important fields ready for their entrance.

NEW MEXICO.

Two missionaries and five native assistants were employed in New Mexico. A considerable number of persons were converted and renounced the Romish religion, of whom twenty-two were baptized. A new church was formed; a church edifice was well advanced toward completion, and one or two others will soon be commenced. The native assistants labored familiarly among the people wherever they could gain access to them, and their labors were blest of God as prominent means of producing these encouraging results.

CALIFORNIA.

We had three missionaries in California. They reported the commencement of revivals and the baptism of eight persons. A good house of worship has been provided by one of the churches.

NEW GRENADA.

One missionary occupies a field in New Grenada. He is now supported by his church without our aid. He reported the baptism of ten persons.

WASHINGTON AND OREGON.

In Washington Territory we have no missionary, but there should be one or two in that field. We have been for some time entreated to send a strong man to occupy one of the principal cities of Oregon. To supply all the points mentioned would require about thirty ministers, and an addition of some thirty per cent. over the amount received last year from contributions and legacies.

SUMMARY OF LABORS AND RESULTS.

The following is a summary of labors, and results, at all the stations occupied by our missionaries, during the past year :—

The number of missionaries employed was ninety-three ; and of assistant missionaries, five. Thirty were new appointments. The number in commission on the thirty-first of March, was sixty-nine. Six collecting agents, also, were in constant employment ; four others served each a portion of the year, and an additional one labored three months for the Church Edifice Fund.

The number of states and territories occupied by the missionaries, is sixteen. Twenty of those missionaries preached in foreign languages and eighteen of them were natives of foreign lands.

The number of stations and out-stations supplied, is two hundred and forty-seven. The aggregate amount of time bestowed upon the field, is equal to that of one man for seventy-seven years.

The missionaries report the baptism of five hundred and ninety-three persons, one hundred and thirty-six of whom are converts from Romanism and German Lutheranism ; the hopeful conversion of four hundred and eight others ; the organization of twenty-seven churches ; the ordination of seventeen ministers ; the partial preparation for the ministry of ten young men in their churches ; the completion of twelve church edifices, and progress in building of seventeen others, by their people.

The churches aided by the Society, contributed two thousand one hundred and twenty-one dollars to the usual objects of christian benevolence, and raised for the support of the gospel among themselves, fifteen thousand one hundred and twenty-four dollars.

Seven churches, heretofore aided by the Society, have become able to support their pastors, and no longer ask aid from our treasury.*

Seven new appointments have been made, for services to commence on the first of April or soon after.

For further details respecting the missionaries, their fields, labors, and results, we respectfully refer the Society to the Missionary Table accompanying this Report.

that they have produced "fruits of righteousness which are by Jesus Christ, unto the glory and praise of God," we can but regard them as comparatively small and unsatisfactory. We would not think disparagingly of a single effort put forth for the promotion of God's glory among men ; much less of a single result which tends to effect that great object ; but when we find ourselves surrounded on all sides with proofs of the vast magnitude and importance of the work to be performed ; of the large amount and varied nature of the means and instrumentalities essential to its performance ; and, above all, that the word of God bids us do with our might whatever our hands find to do in his cause ; and then remember how feeble, faint, and few have been our united efforts in the promotion of home evangelization, a humiliating consciousness arises that we all, who are responsible for the performance of the work, have been unprofitable servants.

This conviction is increased when we contemplate the labors of the Society thus far, as a preparation for those of the future. A new missionary year has commenced, with an extended and difficult field to occupy, requiring a large augmentation of capable laborers, and a much increased amount of means for their support. We can not, as formerly, speak of that field as being limited, westward, by the Mississippi river. It extends beyond the Missouri ; it includes the central territories, and reaches even to the far distant ocean that divides the West from the East. The vast area included within its boundaries is being filled up with an active, energetic population, far more rapidly than we of the Atlantic States ordinarily conceive. Three new States are now asking of Congress admission into the Union ; and preliminary measures are in progress for the same privilege by still another. Two organized territories will do the same with but little delay, and three large districts now ask of the general government a place among the territories of the country.

A larger emigration than ever before known in our country, will probably wend its way into that vast region within the ensuing twelve months. Lines of travel have been marked out in all directions; railroads, already commenced, are being pressed forward to speedy completion; others are projected and endowed by government grants of land and State credit, which leave no room for doubt of their being soon extended to very distant points in the general field, facilitating a future and more numerous settlement of that wide domain.

This anticipation of the general fact does not depend simply on inferences from the past, nor mere conjecture for the future. The wave of emigration is now actually in motion, swelling its volume with each day's progress, and gaining impetus that will impel it to the most distant point fit for the uses of emigrating humanity. That entire region must and will be occupied by immortal beings, whose intellectual and moral powers will exercise an active influence for good or for evil upon each other and upon our entire country. The object of this Society is to impart a healthful tone to those powers, to influence them by the teachings of Divine inspiration in favor of christian institutions, and to win those who wield them to the love and service of Jesus Christ.

This great work of christian benevolence can not be performed without the early establishment of gospel institutions among the people. All other efforts will fail as they have ever failed. The success of these may be impeded by the lack of individual interest in the work on the part of professing christians, and of faith and prayer in the churches. For these reasons the means of effort may be limited, and ministers of the gospel may be prevented from entering the field and aiding in the work of faith and labor of love ; but God's purpose and promise of grace are sure, and should more than counterbalance discouragements experienced while striving to build up the kingdom of his dear Son. This Society, as a band of Christ's disciples, should go forward faithfully and perseveringly in the work. We repeat the remark : God has greatly honored it as an instrument in turning the hearts of men to his service, and it is our prayer that, by faithful continuance in well doing, it will be far more honored by him in time to come.

By order of the Executive Board,

BENJAMIN M. HILL,

Secretary of Correspondence.

IMPORTANT WHEN WILLS ARE MADE.

LEGACIES are sometimes diverted from the purposes of testators on account of technical informalities, especially in the devising clause. The following form of bequest has been approved by high legal authority, to which we solicit the careful attention of those friends who kindly intend to place the Society among their legatees as one which, if followed, will secure to us the favors intended.

FORM OF A BEQUEST TO THE SOCIETY.

I give and bequeath to the American Baptist Home Mission Society, formed in New York, in the year eighteen hundred and thirty-two, the sum of ——— dollars, for the purposes of said Society.

REPORTS.

REPORT ON THE MISSIONS OF THE BOARD.

The Committee appointed upon so much of the Report of the Board as relates to its missionary operations, having given such attention as they have been able to the duties assigned them, beg leave to submit the following:—

Your Committee feel, that to give anything like a just conception of the “missionary operations” of the Board, requires something more than the study of an hour. It is not merely to examine the labors of one man, or to measure the results attained of a single station. It is not simply to describe the moral wastes of one city, state, or territory. Nor is it to recite the achievements of a single year. The “missionary operations” of the Board embrace the labors of many men, cover many and widely separated towns and cities, states and territories, and reach, in their yet undeveloped results, years in the distant future. Your Committee, therefore, feel that they can do little more in their report than to state a few general facts, and suggest a few guiding principles.

The American Baptist Home Mission Society in its “missionary operations” has a history yet to be written. True, many of the records of its heroic, self-denying, pioneer laborers, may be even now beyond our reach. They live in the fruits that follow them, but their record is on high. Many of the early laborers under the patronage of this Society, have “finished their course.” They were “good men and true.” Upon their fields they were men of renown, and yet even with their names, but few of the present patrons of the Society are familiar. These men and others of a kindred spirit, who yet remain, have placed us, as a people, under a debt of gratitude such as we shall never be able to repay. The least we can do, is from time to time to refresh our memories with their fortitude and patience, their zeal and labor in the kingdom of Christ.

To study the “missionary operations” of the Board requires that one should go to the field of their operations. They have sown their seed beside all waters, they have planted the handful of corn upon the top of the mountain, whose fruit has long since been shaking like Lebanon. Their “missionary operations” have embraced the exploring of new territories, the opening up of new fields of labor, the planting of new preaching stations, the organizing and training of new churches, the forming of new Sunday Schools, the building of new houses of worship, and, in a word, the converting of moral wastes into fruitful fields. And that such results as these have been attained in the past, in an encouraging degree, the well-known fruits of missionary labor bear abundant testimony. Whoever will go upon the field of your "missionary operations," will find, at almost every step, some of these rich and clustering fruits.

Nor have the labors of the past year, so far as your Committee have been able to learn, been less hopeful and encouraging than in former years. It has been a year of mingled judgment and mercy. Your "missionary operations" have been encompassed alike with worldly trials and spiritual prosperity. This is true of them, probably, beyond the experience of any previous year.

The "operations" of the past year, in respect to the fields occupied, have been very widely extended. From Canada, on the North, to New Mexico and New Grenada, on the South; from New York and Pennsylvania, on the East, to California, Oregon, and Washington, on the West; through eleven states and seven territories, or provinces, your missionaries have gone preaching the words of life. Many precious revivals have been enjoyed, and many converts have been baptized. A goodly number of meeting-houses have been commenced and others completed.

Moreover, so far as your Committee have been able to judge, the "missionary operations" of the past year have been wisely distributed. Your Board seem to have looked over the whole field, and from their point of view, they have endeavored to occupy the most available portions. It may, however, be questionable, whether the spirit that gave this Society a being, and still fosters it, contemplates the occupancy of the older states, such as New York and Pennsylvania. Its work rather has to do with the frontier, and is a pioneer work. While there may be great destitution here, it is worthy of inquiry, whether it should not be left to other agencies.

Upon the whole, in looking over the "missionary operations," in respect to what has been done, your Committee have only words of encouragement and commendation to utter.

But there is another view to be taken of the subject. That relates to what has not been done.

Your Committee feel that the amount expended upon the "missionary operations" of the Board has been altogether inadequate to meet the growing necessities of the field. While something has been done to cheer our hearts and excite our gratitude, there still "remaineth much land to be possessed." This work of "home evangelization" claims, and is worthy to receive, a larger place in our hearts and our benevolent efforts than has hitherto been given it. Our people are but partially awake to the importance or magnitude of the work. Your Committee, therefore, feel that the Board should be encouraged to undertake an enlargement of their missionary operations," in the future.

In order to this, they must seek greatly to augment the income of the Society. They must both instruct and arouse the churches upon this great work. They must ask for aid as those expecting to receive it. Your Committee feel that the Board should be encouraged to do this in entering upon the labors of another year. There is a general conviction in favor of home missions, in the churches. That conviction should be strengthened. Our people are, perhaps, as well united in the Home Mission Society as in any kindred organization among us. Their enlarged and united co-operation should be sought. Your Committee would have the Board encouraged to attempt more, and expect more in their future "missionary operations." Our people have an undeveloped interest and love for home missions, they have the ability greatly to enlarge their former efforts, the cause demands it, and no time should be lost in its accomplishment.

Your Committee feel that, in conducting the "missionary operations" of the Board, great care should be taken in selecting the fields to be occupied. Centres of influence should be sought for, where there can not only be built up self-sustaining churches at an early day, but from whence the work of evangelization may be extended into the "regions round about."

And these centres of influence should be early occupied. It has been our misfortune in times past, to allow our operations to be so tardy, our occupancy of the fields so late, as greatly to hinder our success. A very slight acquaintance with the growth of new towns will suggest many reasons why our "missionary operations" should keep pace with the tide of emigration. To be too late on the field in many instances, is almost equal to a defeat.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON LEGACIES.

PRESENTED THROUGH THE REV. DR. BELCHER, OF PHILADELPHIA, CHAIRMAN.

The subject of Legacies to the American Baptist Home Mission Society, to which the attention of this body has been called, and on which you have directed your present Committee to report, is one of great importance, demanding the serious and prayerful consideration of every disciple of the Lord Jesus who has had the bounty of Providence committed to his hands.

The venerable apostle Peter, after having declared his zeal in present activity, adds, "Moreover, I will endeavor that you may be able, after my decease, to have these things always in remembrance." This declaration suggests, as your Committee think, the doctrine that entire devotedness to the service of Christ, both in life and death, is alike the duty and the privilege of his followers. It is pleasant to reflect on the character of the large number of our beloved friends, who, after active co-operation with us in our holy cause while they lived, have, during the past year, been called to their rest, leaving behind them evidences in death of their attachment to the church of Christ and their country, which, in a season of great commercial distress, have preserved the Board of our Society from the distressing embarrassment felt by some similar organizations. Useful in life, even after death they shall long serve the holy cause by extending the truths of "Christ's gospel," and thus saving souls from eternal ruin.

In the opinion of not a few brethren, in whose judgment we can not but repose confidence, this subject of testamentary bequests to the cause of holy benevolence has not received a due share of attention. Posthumous usefulness is not desired so generally and to so great an extent as it ought to be; and your Committee would urge on their brethren and sisters, in prospect of finally arranging their property, prayerfully to settle the question as to what proportion they should appropriate to the sacred treasury, and what department of christian usefulness it shall encourage. The history of not a few families where indolence, extravagant habits of life, and neglect of christian duties in general are shown, painfully suggest the contrast between the parents and the children, and the desirableness of compelling posterity to the habits of industry and enterprise, which shall honor alike the memories of the dead, and scatter blessings among the living. The possession of property to such an extent as to discourage industry can not be a blessing in a country like ours, while the diffusion of christianity now is sowing seed which must produce blessings for all time and eternity. Brethren, let your bequests for the benefit of your country cause the blessings of perishing sinners to hallow your memory when your spirits shall return to God, and your bodies shall rest in hope.

Your Committee, in closing their report, may be permitted to say that, on this subject, "wisdom is profitable to direct." Assuredly, in some cases, it is important that christians should be their own executors, doing good now while they possess the means of effecting it, remembering alike the uncertainty of life and the possibility of their friends half wishing the death of those whose usefulness is to be advanced by others after their decease. "I had got," says holy Baxter, "the just sum of a thousand pounds. Having no child, I devoted it to charity. Before my purpose was accomplished, the king caused his exchequer to be shut, and it was lost; which I mention to counsel any man that would do good, to do it speedily, and with all his might." The late excellent author of Mammon says on the subject, "by making your charity to consist only in testamentary bequests, you are calculating on the certainty and stability of that which has become the very emblem of change and uncertainty."

In closing their report, your Committee would urge the importance of entire consecration alike of ourselves and our possessions to the cause of him who has given himself and his infinite resources of happiness to us. In this season of vast communications of heavenly blessings, may we pray for an enlarged measure of grateful zeal, and prove more fully than ever that "the liberal soul deviseth liberal things, and by liberal things shall he stand."

All which is respectfully submitted,

JOSEPH BELCHER,
A. SAWIN,
W. H. PARMLY.

NECESSARY PRECAUTIONS.

It was not the design of the Society in the above Report to encourage delay on the part of any person till the arrival of the death hour, in contributing to the cause of benevolence. They believe with the poet, that "Life is the time to serve the Lord."

And, with the inspired wise man, they would say to all, "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might." It is better, when practicable, for all the friends of benevolence to be their own executors and leave nothing after their decease for others to do in distributing their estate for benevolent purposes. But it is not always practicable, or thought of, or agreeable, to dispose of property in that way, when the claims of this world demand men's attention and resources. And it is very frequently the case that such a disposition of property is desirable to men when those claims are satisfied, or the approach of death renders them inoperative. When the desire and ability exist, they should be gratified. And this is what the Society would encourage.

It should not be overlooked, that, whatever is worth doing at all, should be well done, and this rule is as applicable to will-making as to anything else; and more so than to many other things, because the maker of a will can not assist in remedying any defects in his works when it has passed into the hands of his executors. Such defects often appear, especially in bequests to organized Societies. The devising clause is wrongly constructed, misnomers or errors in titles occur, and points of law are left open to litigation, trouble, and expense.

For these, and other reasons, it is always more safe and important for every person, when disposed to make a will, to obtain accurate information as to the true title of any Society he intends to benefit by a legacy. This he can do by correspondence with the proper officer of said Society, or by obtaining a copy of the Annual Report of the Society, or by consulting with some one of its prominent, active friends. He may thus feel assured that he has THE RIGHT TITLE of the Society, on which to base his devise. It is equally important to employ an able, experienced lawyer in drawing up the will, or at least, to consult with upon the points of law which should be guarded. Difficulties, contentions, and heart-burnings may thus be avoided, at least, so far as the construction of the document is concerned.

In order to assist those who may entertain kind intentions toward the American Baptist Home Mission Society, we append the following as an approved devising clause in the case of an ordinary legacy for its benefit :—

Form of a Bequest to this Society.

I give and bequeath to the American Baptist Home Mission Society, formed in New York, in the year eighteen hundred and thirty-two, the sum of ——— dollars, for the purposes of said Society.

OBITUARIES.

The Committee on Obituaries, appointed at the last anniversary of the Home Mission Society, made the following Report.

Our Society has its death roll, whose list is constantly increasing. Thus, while we are all pressing to possess the earth, we are also marching to the better land. Already the names of those of us who have fallen asleep, are told by hundreds. During the past year, "the last enemy" has made greater inroads upon us than in any preceding one.

These departed, we are not accustomed to, nor do we now, forget. For we, the living, are still one with them, the dead. They are but gone before us a little, and we are following. A narrow stream alone divides Christians on earth and the saints in glory.

Among those recently deceased are some who have long stood by us, ministers and laymen, and liberal supporters, whose names are household words, and whose late friends are all around us. Of these was the consort of our respected first Vice-President, J. E. Southworth, who, for a quarter of a century, walked with him, and served her generation; John M. Peck, D.D., pioneer Home Missionary of the west—friend of the emigrant, lover of christian missions, whose record is on high and on earth, whose name is indelible in the valley of the Mississippi; Anson Tucker last, but one of a large family of ministers, who were, but a few years ago, all among us; R. C. McCormick, whose writing is before many of us in our diplomas; Herbert Hall, Deacon of the Calvary Baptist Church, New York, a liberal supporter of the gospel, and one, who, as an office-bearer in Zion, truly purchased to himself “a good degree and great boldness in the faith.”

But to mention all our deceased friends by name, and with remarks, were here an impracticable task. Each was esteemed and respected. Their names are all to be found in the list of the deceased, as published in the Annual Report of the Society. The fact that they were members of our body, made so by their own contributions, or those of their brethren, testifies to their standing in the church, and the christian regard in which they were held by those who best knew them.

Their removal from among us was the will of God, and to that we bow with meek submission.

To surviving friends, as a society, we tender our earnest sympathies. The arrow that has drunk up their spirits, starts in us the silent tear. For in the christian brotherhood we suffer with the suffering. Though unknown to us all by face, yet to the many friends of our friends, we here tender our considerate grief.

After these, our departed brethren, we, their associates, who still live, cast a lingering look. But they have suddenly proceeded too far for any well-bounded thought. Sacred Scripture assures us, that “absent from the body,” they are “present with the Lord,” and that this is “far better.” “The living are the dead.” They are the ripe fruit which is garnered up while the earlier foliage decays. Their bodies have gone to dust, but the celestial atmosphere has become impearled with their spirits. For “he that doeth the will of God abideth for ever.” To them now all is light and beauty. Storms do not blow—sickness does not pale and wither. The land of fruits and song is theirs. They are Home.

In their departure, we are reminded of our own mortality. The time cometh when our names also, will be enrolled among the dead, and some friendly hand will be invited to embalm our memory. The thought comes over us a solemn wave. To prepare us, we need to live well. How soon the hour will come is not known below. But we read the warning words, “Be ye also ready.” While, therefore, we thus mourn the dead, let us rejoice in that the strands of our living web are daily renewed, and let us, who have long been, and still are, standard bearers and helpers, press on till our mission is accomplished, and we all join in one gathered family in one place, able to recount laborious lives and successful issues.
